

The George Washington University was created in 1821 through an Act of Congress, fulfilling George Washington's vision of an institution in the nation's capital dedicated to educating and preparing future leaders.

Today, GW is the largest institution of higher education in the Washington, DC. We have more than 26,000 students—from all 50 states, Washington, DC, and 130 countries—studying a rich range of disciplines: from forensic science and creative writing to international affairs and computer engineering, as well as medicine, public health, the law and public policy.

Established in 1922, Murray State University is a nationally recognized public university in the United States that is home to nearly 10,000 students from the United States and 60 countries. As a student, you may choose from over 126 high-quality bachelor's degrees, master's degrees, doctoral programs, and the English Language Program. International students benefit from affordable tuition rates and numerous scholarship opportunities.

You will feel welcome in our safe and friendly university community that was recently recognized as the "Friendliest Small Town in America" by USA Today. A Murray State education focuses on career achievement -- it is a true value and you will graduate ready for success. Take the next step and find out how to apply for admission. Contact our international student office at msu.intl@murraystate.edu and visit our webpage at www.murraystate.edu/international for more details.

WRIGHT STATE UNIVERSITY

Wright State University is a national public research university in Dayton, Ohio with nearly 18,000 students. Offering more than 230 degree programs, the university is made up of eight colleges, three schools, and a branch campus in Celina, Ohio. Named for the Wright brothers, Wright State University offers an exceptional, affordable education.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

A liberal arts college in the midst of a world-renowned research university, the University of Chicago offers a dynamic and well-rounded education, one where students encounter great thinkers, sharpen critical thinking skills, and engage in the Life of the Mind. We're intent on changing the world by asking tough questions, celebrating new ideas, and forming a community of scholars – one a supportive as it is transformative. UChicago and its namesake city are inextricably linked. With over 9 million people in the Chicagoland area, Chicago is a center of global cultures, international commerce, the arts, and pizza. And with the city center just a 20-minute ride away from our cozy Hyde park neighborhood, the city becomes an integral part of your UChicago experience.